
Building a Scholarly Career

Join us for this panel discussion on the steps in building a scholarly career. Three experienced faculty will talk about how they built their research and integrated the three aspects of teaching, research and service into their academic life, and will offer advice to others for doing the same. They will address topics such as thinking about where you want to be in 15 years and planning for how you want to get there.

Panelists:

- Sarah Codd
Mechanical & Industrial Engineering
- Joanne Erickson
Educational Leadership
- Allen Harmsen
Immunology & Infectious Diseases

Moderated by:

Sue Monahan, College of Letters & Science, & Marilyn Lockhart, Interim Director of Faculty Development
